Since the inception of Walden our mission has been to procure for our guests the finest indigenous, naturally raised foods. To that end, we have found that foods grown and raised organically are not only environmentally friendly... but they also just taste better! Specifically, meat suppliers to Walden use free-range or grass-fed pasture raising methods and all the meats that we serve are free of antibiotics, growth hormones or added chemicals. Our fish, if not local, is certified wild from the oceans or farmed in a sustainable manner.
